StartupNation Honors Nation's Top Home-Based businesses

Replica Dungeon Inc Wins Top Honors in Business Competition under Recession Busters

Rocky Mount, NC – 24 November 2008– Replica Dungeon Inc has been recognized by StartupNation (<http://www.startupnation.com>) as one of the top businesses in its annual Home Based 100 competition under the category of Recession Busters.

Many of the StartupNation Home-Based 100 submissions revealed that business owners are bucking the current economic downturn and finding business success in these tight times. Historically some of today's most well known businesses started in a downturn, including Microsoft and General Electric.

"The 2008 ranking shows that the home-based business is more relevant than ever. The current recession has spurred a new wave of home based businesses as a response to loss of jobs, the need for supplemental income and the sheer passion for blazing your own trail and running your own show," said Rich Sloan, co-founder of StartupNation.com, one of the leading small business networking and advice websites. "Home based businesses are the biggest block of all businesses in existence and we expect numbers to grow ever greater as extra bedrooms, kitchen tables, basements, garages and even such things as swords and movie collectibles become host to the innovative thinking and pursuit of success by millions of Americans."

Knowing there were well over 1,500 entries in over 10 different categories, I had no expectations of winning. To my surprise, we were selected as one of the finalists and I could not be happier. We work extremely hard for our customers and I guess it shows.

The StartupNation Home-Based 100 highlights 10 top-ten lists making it not just your ordinary business ranking. From the wackiest, to the most innovative, to the best financial performers – this unique and diverse list highlights the home-based businesses that usually go unrecognized, but still play a vital role in the economy today.
